

Mr. Prime Minister Shinzo Abe.

I write this letter to you to thank to the Japanese Government for this library with which the town of Toca Boyacá can count on. My name is Sara, and what I like the most about visiting this library with my sister Angie is to read, because there are plenty of informative books and we have improved our studies thanks to the Toca Library.

The library in Toca is beautiful; it has informative books on literature, poetry, legends and mythology among others. There are tablets and computers. First, my life and my sisters were boring because there was no library and we had to pay for internet services to do our homework and since the library opened our lives have changed and I believe other people's also. There are four areas, the first one is for reading books, the second one is for doing homework, the third one is the computer room, the last one is for taking courses and there is a section for bicycle parking.

Best Regards,

Sara Katherine Acuña Becerra
